Cupertino Welcomes Barnes & Noble

CUPERTINO, Calif. – The City of Cupertino welcomes Barnes & Noble to Cupertino with the opening of its new bookstore at Cupertino Crossroads, 20740 Stevens Creek Boulevard.

The 18,000-square-foot store opened to the public on Wednesday, November 4. The opening marks the return of a general bookstore to Cupertino.

Barnes & Noble is one of many new businesses opening in Cupertino this year, bringing more shopping, dining, and other options for residents and visitors. The opening also brings new activity to a space that has been vacant since Party City closed in early 2025.

"As we head into the rainy season, there's nothing quite like finding a new favorite read or discovering something unexpected," said Mayor Kitty Moore. "We're delighted to welcome Barnes & Noble to Cupertino. This beautiful new store offers much more than books, with interactive toys, gifts, magazines, and an expansive children's reading section. It's a wonderful new destination for our community."

"We're looking forward to getting to know Cupertino residents and visitors, learning what they enjoy reading and what they'd like to see in our store," said Jashee Yang, store manager of Barnes & Noble in Cupertino.

"Filling vacant retail spaces brings renewed energy to our commercial shopping centers and creates more opportunities for local shopping," said City Manager Tina Kapoor. "We're excited to see Barnes & Noble bring this space back to life and remain committed to supporting businesses that make Cupertino a welcoming place to live, work, and visit."

The City encourages everyone to explore and support Cupertino local businesses.
